MAHER IN DISGRACE AT AQUEDUCT.

HE RODE WRETCHEDLY AND WAS IMPUDENT AND BRUTAL

Two days of success seems to have proved the limit of "Danny" Maher's anxiety to regain his place in the racing public's favor. Yesterday at Aqueduct he more than lost the ground which he gained on Saturday and Monday, and there will no chance to redeem himself at that track, for he has also earned suspension for the rest of the Maher's work all day was poor, but his worst faults were shown in the Jamaica Stakes. He rode the Kensico Stable's Neponset, the odds-on favorite, and should have won, but he didn't, al-though it took two contests to beat him. In the first Neponset was away in front, and had Maher made use of his advantage he would have had no difficulty in leading to the end, but he was overconfident, and Frelinghuysen got up in the last stride, making a dead heat. The latter's owner insisted on a run-off. Maher seemed to have lost insisted on a run-off. Maher seemed to have lost his temper and sense in the time between the two contests. The instant the flag fell he rushed Neponset out at a terrific pace. Neponset was unequal to these tactics and swerved to the outer tail. This, of course, left Frelinghuysen to come on and win easily. Had Maher pulled up when the found that he was beaten, some persons might have excused him, but the beating he gave the colt even after he realized that he had no chance was beyond all reason, and he deserved the hisses which greeted him as he passed the finish. Later it was learned that he had insulted the starter. He was fined $200 and suspended for the rest of the meeting.

"Skeets" Martin did not ride yesterday. He is suffering from a fit of sulks, brought about by some faultfinding over his riding of Touraine on Monday. His employer, A. J. Joyner, is said to have censured him. Some folks would be pleased if this jockey would sulk on the ground all the year.

Klepper, the odds-on favorite for the fifth race, was beaten, and Griffin, owner of the winner, Egbart, promptly claimed him. It cost him only $65 to do this, and he got a bargain. The summaries follow.

GOODWIN'S OFFICIAL TURF GUIDE.

Volume II of Goodwin's Official Turf Guide

for this year has just been published. It contains more than three hundred pages of valuable data splendidly compiled. It gives the records of all horses that have performed in public at any racing association meeting in this country or Canada from January 2 to last Saturday. Every race is printed in tabular form, which shows the positions of horses that were either first, second or third at some part of the race. The betting on each race is also given, besides the weights carried and the names of the jockeys. By referring to the index of the volume any one can learn in a moment

whether a horse that has performed in public

since January has run on sloppy, heavy or slow

gree of every horse can also be found in the index, as well as the names of owners. This volume should be in the hands of every person who makes a study of the performances of the thoroughbred or takes an interest in the running horse. It is not only of great value, but indispensable to owners, trainers, breeders and lovers of the thoroughbred.

MAHER AND RUHLIN FIGHT TO A DRAW.

Peter Maher, the Irish champion, and "Gus"

Ruhlin, the "Akron Giant," fought to a twenty round draw at catchweights at the Lenox Athletic Club last night. A large number of sporting men were present. Maher weighed isi pounds and Ruhlin 190 pounds. Both men were in good condition. They fought savagely from the first to the last round, and it seemd to be either man's fight in the closing rounds. In the early rounds Maher appeared to be stronger and better than his adversary, but he could not knock out Ruhlin.

THE RECORDS.

terday was with a team holding second place in the League race, the attendance was again small. Finer weather for baseball could not have been made to order, but the expected thousands with the quarters and halves seem to travel in some other direction. The shadows of Coogan's bluff have no attractions for them.

The fact is that the average attendant at professional baseball games realizes that the New-York team is weak, and that it is likely to remain so as long as the present management is in power. The team is weak in pitchers, and with Tiernan, Davis, Rusle and Seymour out of the game there is not really much left to play ball with. Of course, the team will win games occasionally, as it did yesterday, but everybody realizes that it has no chance to secure an honorable place in the race unless decided changes are made all around. Manager Day does the best he can with the maceval at hand.

Only eight innings were played yesterday, on account of approaching darkness. The home team played well in the field, and won by timely batting in the sixth inning. Foster's hit sent in the two runs needed to win the game. The all-around work of Doyle was excellent. The score:

the meeting of the City Council next Monday night an ordinance will be introduced by Alderman Frank T. Fowler which will prohibit the playing of baseball games on Sunday. By the provisions of the challenge the Municipal Assembly may "select the challenge the Municipal Assembly may "select a team of not more than nine men and play base-ball with a team of nine City Hall reporters." It is thought from the wording of the challenge that the City Fathers knew that they would be challenged to play a game of baseball and had talked about putting more than nine men on the field. At least they are suspected of having carefully studied the games played by "Andy" Freedman's nine and of having agreed that nine men with baskets and cricket bats or ten men without baskets and cricket bats are now needed in playing the game.

CYCLING.

A PETITION TO ASPHALT BROADWAY FIGHT FOR A BRIDGE WHEELWAY.

A public improvement which is being agitated in this city is the paving of Broadway phait from Fourteenth to Forty-second-st. The subject has been discussed more or less with propand a petition which has been in circulation has received many signatures. The argument is used that asphalt would be an improvement appreciated not only by wheelmen, but by drivers also. The noise and rumble in that district at present could be practically done away with, and with asphalt the thoroughfare could be kept much cleaner and more wholesome. Milo M. Belding, chief consul of the League of American Wheelmen in this State, has sent the appended communicathere is a movement on foot to secure the paving with asphalt of Broadway between Forty-second and Fourteenth-sts. I wish to give the indorse-ment of the League of American Wheelmen to such movement and to urge your honorable body to favorable action upon said petition. The New-York State Division, League of American Wheelmen, has over 15,000 active members upon its rolls, over 10,000 of whom live in the city of New-York. I would say that the League is not only in favor to cycling, but because it presents a surface to the street more easily kept clean and less noisy, which is an unquestioned improvement in a city improvement will be of vast importance to the city and appreciated by all citizens. It will tend to make Broadway what it should be-one of the finest thoroughfares in the world."

The Good Roads Association of Long Island is the first of the cycling organizations in this district to re-enter the field to combat for a wheelway over the Brooklyn Bridge. The Associated Cycling Clubs of New-York and Brooklyn will not behind. The officials of the Good Roads Association are familiar with the obstacles which have blocked this much-discussed improvement, and they will set to work to remove those obstacles as quickly as possible. The members of the assosuggested by Eugene La Manna is entirely practical, and this plan will be urged and fought for. The La Manna plan carries the wheelway across Park Row and lands the wheelmen opposite the Postoffice, in Mail-st. the appended resolution:

Whereas, The Bridge roadway having become so dangerous that cyclists cannot cross on same except at peril of life and limb, as proven by recent and accident. sad accident.

Resolved, That the Good Roads Association of Brooklyn and Long Island urge upon the authorities the necessity of at once providing safe means for the cycling public to cross the Bridge to and from their work or for any other purposes, as is their right as citizens and taxpayers of Greater New-York.

Wheelmen will be glad to know that men are at work on the cycle paths at One-hundred-andtenth-st. and Fifth-ave., connecting Central Park East with upper Fifth-ave. Wheelmen riding over the asphalted streets yesterday complained that much glass was strewn around. At Ore-hundredmuch glass was strewn around. At Ore-hundredand-seventh-st, in Manhattan-ave., there was a lot of glass which had been ground into sharp, needle-like pieces by passing wagons and trucks.
Complaint was made to the Street Cleaning Department. At One-hundred-and-seventh-st, and Seventh-ave, a kitchen-knife with a four-inch blade and a sharp point was found in the middle of the road, where it had been thrown by some careless servant. At Ninety-third-st, and the West roadway. Bepairs are being made at Fifty-ninthst, and Madison-ave, and at several points in Much the most important topic in golf circles jus now is the proposed revision of the old St. Andrews playing rules by a committee of eminent golfers, which, according to the reports received golfers, which, according to the reports received from the other side, is to meet this week at the St. Andrews Golf Club, in Scotland, to decide upon the necessary changes. Briefly summarized, the most radical of the innovations proposed is to grant a player permission to have his opponent, ball lifted if it is within a club's length and interferes with his stroke. It is also proposed to remove the penalty of loss of the hole when a player strikes at the ball twice, and make it simply a loss of one stroke. Many minor changes are also likely to be instituted, and their effect on the game will be watched with keen interest by players in this country.

The time hasn't

The time hasn't The Book Club Nearing Its Close come yet, but it's close at hand, when we shall have to say, "No more admissions to the Wanamaker Library Club." You have taken, in eight months, almost all the sets that we thought would last a year.

We refer, of course, to the International Library, the twenty-volume sets that we sell on monthly payments, and that contain the best writings of all the best writers who ever lived and wrote. From 2000 B. C. down to Rudyard Kipling, the tale is complete. Not a writer, philosopher, orator or poet is omitted, and the selections are full and generous. Short stories, in fact, are given entire.

Send us a dollar and two references, and if they are satisfactory we'll send you the twenty volumes. Look them over ten days. If you return them within that time, we send your dollar back. If you decide to keep them, pay us their price in fifteen monthly payments.

We have been making this offer since last October, and sent out thousands and thousands of sets. The proportions of returns is less than one-third of one per cent. No praise of ours could ever be so strong an argument as this. Try for yourself.

Grass Cloth is a compara-Grass Cloth Grass Cloth tively new fabric for Sum-Furniture mer furniture upholstering, and it hasn't yet reached the popularity that is due to it. Merely a matter of finding out; everybody who knows about it, buys it.

We show this morning a special lot of eighty-five pieces of Summer furniture upholstered in grass cloth. These have frames of maple, in "bamboo" designs, and the upholstery is well done, and finished with leather gimp and leathered nails.

Also, twenty pieces of the same sort with birch frames, natural finish.

Better Summer furniture was never so cheap. Read:-
